Monthly Water Testing Results

Public utilities are required by law to take many expensive samples each month. They also must pay the employees that run them, as well as cover administrative costs.

The City of Cascade tests drinking water based on requirements specific to our permit. The testing locations are dictated by Idaho DEQ based on our water distribution system. Water testing occurs in areas with close proximity to our gravity fed tanks and end of the line locations.

Collection Date and Collection Times:

Watering a yard at high elevations requires understanding the challenges and considerations.

Water runoff and erosion may impact the lower property owner's land.

Winter damage can thin unprotected lawns at high elevations.

Efficient watering is essential due to rapid evaporation at high altitudes.

Check out the University of Idaho Extension, Bulletin 875, on tips and instruction for Short-Season, High-Altitude lawn care.

GEO THERMAL 101

Geothermal is a renewable energy resource. Renewable energy is one that can replenish itself. Geo thermal energy qualifies as a renewable resource since it originates from the internal heat of the earth and the water is continuously replenished by rainfall. The internal heat of the earth and rainfall are natural phenomena.

Geothermal heat pump systems carry impressive warranties. Almost all geothermal heat pump systems come with warrants of over 25 years. The working life of the inside components of geothermal heat pumps is about 25 years. The ground loop has a more incredible working life of over 50 years.

Although most people are tapping the geothermal heat for various functions like bathing, providing hot water for swimming pools and therapeutic functions, the greater percentage of the energy is harnessed to generate electricity and heat and cool homes.

The United States ranks high among countries with most geothermal heat pump installations. In the U.S., nearly a million residential geothermal heat pumps have been installed. Each year, over 60,000 new geothermal heat pumps are installed.
